WALLACE CALLS CAPITAL PARLEY

Soils Conservation "Wizard" Expected to Aid in New Plans

BY FRANK I. WELLER, (Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.-A hurry-call to a soil conservation "wizard" to speed across the continent and sit in at a big farm parley here gave a new hint today AAA's successor may be like. Called From West Coast

It was learned that Howard R. Tolley, described by administra-tion officials as the "foremost agricultural economist" in the United States, had been called from the west coast to attend the farm onference summoned by Secretary Wallace to discuss new plans in the light of AAA's death.

Tolley, now director of the Giannini foundation in California, be-gan last spring a regional planning and soil conservation study which was described as the most important in the history of the nation. Until last October he was assistant AAA administrator.

The invitation to him was considered especially significant in view of the fact that President Roosevelt, Secretary Wallace and AAA Administrator Chester Davis have emphasized they consider it desirable to proceed toward production control through subsidized soil conservation.

Conservation Plan Seen

Though nothing is considered settled, word from the farmers' meeting indicated delegates were centering on a soil conservation plan to be implemented with cash from the government.

the view of several farmers attending the session, soil conservation might result in control of production. For instance, they said, a farmer might retire a percentage of his lan dfrom commercial crops and plant it to soil-building legumes, receiving government money for so doing. The result, adgumes, receiving government the coach's normal pursuits are money for so doing. Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is following from the Bible: "This cup is the new testament in my blood; this do ye, as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me. But let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup.

(I Cor. 11:23,28) The Lesson-Sermon also includes the Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Sci-ence and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "If all who ever partook of the sacrament had really commemor-ated the sufferings of Jesus and drunk of his cup, they would have revolutionized the world. If all who seek his commemoration through material symbols will take up the cross, heal the sick, cast out evils, and preach Christ, or Truth, to the poor,—the receptive thought-they will bring in the millennium.

Hunt's history of Salem says 'In 1845 another division occurred in the Society of Friends. Some years before Joseph Gurney, an English Friendcame over and went through most of the American meetings and preached in such a manner as to set people to thinking. Many believed he preached the truth and there were many who regarded him as getting away from the Friends standards. One John Wilbur, an American Friend, opposed him. This led to a division; and for a distinction the parties got the names of "Gurneyites" and "Wilburities". But they both ignore the names as applied to their respective parties.

The division in Winona occurred in 1854 and by a compromise both meetings were held in the meetinghouse at different hours. Finally, in 1884, Jan. 23, this party of Friends deemed it to be the best interest of the church to secure grounds and build a new meeting house.

The building committee was composed of Isaac Johnson, Joshua Jenkins, Joseph Crew, Rhoda B. Walton and Elizabeth A. Thomas.

Later, the women, by request, were dropped from the committee and Joseph Windle was appointed treasurer of the building funds. The land upon which the new church was built was obtained from Mary Allen and Elsie Petit. The site contained about three-fourths of an acre and was purchased for $279.50.

Much of the materials and labor for the building was donated but there seems to have been a cost of about $500 in actual money.

The name of the meeting on removal to the new house Dec. 20, 1884, was changed from New Garden monthly meeting to Winona monthly meeting.

A report from the Sunday school at the close of the first year shows an average attendance of 30 scholars, four teachers and four officers. Probably the largest class of members ever taken into the church was in December 21, 1887, after a series of meetings held by Judith C. Johnson and David J. Lewis.

There were 38 in this class and it included James and Alpharetta Hoopes, Jesse Ingram, Mattie Ward, Josephine Harris, Reba Jenkins, Harry Van Fossan, Edwin Thomas and several

In 1897 the church decided to provide a parsonage and a committee consisting of Isaiah Whinery, George Cobourn, Albert Lamborn, Henry Van Fossan. Emmor Harris, Jacob Taylor and Sheridan Broomall took the work in charge. Much was donated but there was a cash outlay

A number of changes have taken place and repairs have been added throughout the years. Many ministers have been called to the church and some have been resident pastors. At the present time. Revs. Martin and Lydia Brantingham are serving the church. They came to Winona in 1927.

> Rev. Lyle J. Beebe, a Presbyterian missionary from Kiulungkiang, China, will speak at a union service at 7:30 p. m. Sunday in the First Presbyterian church here:

Kiulungkiang is one of the most remote stations in which the Presbyterian church is carrying on mission work. It is in the interior of Yunnan Province, not far from the Burmese border, where China, French Indo-China, Siam and Burma all are close to each other. The people of his neighborhood are more akin to the Siamese in race and language than they are to the ruling Chinese. This situation, coupled with the additional fact that it is much easier to get into Siam from Kiulungkiang than it is to reach other sections of China in which the Presbyterian church is at work, makes Mr. Beebe's station a part of the Siam mission, despite its political connections. Mr. Beebe went to Siam in 1908, after graduation from Park college and from Princeton Theological seminary. He has served in a number of stations in Siam and was among the first to go into the new station of Kiulungkiang when work was started there soon after the World war.

IT'S OFFICIAL NOW

In his Jackson day address President Roosevelt launched the Democratic party on its campaign for the umpteenth time. But this time it was official. Jackson day is the formal opening of campaign activities.

That is not to say that the other occasions which have been described as campaign launchings weren't people who would speak to the first divorceed wothe real thing. For instance, the President's message to congress was called the opening of his campaign for reelection. Likewise, his speech in Atlanta was a campaign opener. But they were not official, in the sense that Jackson day is official.

For convenience's sake it is desirable to assume that the campaign for reelection in the case of a first-term president always is being opened. It is, in fact, opened and reopened times without number. But it can be opened formally but once. In that arose to say: "There will be no oratory tonight." And respect it is like many other public ceremonies. A Rube Goldberg or someone sneered: "Not while you new bridge for instance, is opened formally by are talking anyway!" cutting a ribbon. Practically, it is opened when the first workman walks across it. The ribbon for the 1936 campaign has been cut.

Mr. Roosevelt's day address was brief and good natured. It was designed for and delivered to the Roosevelt wing of the Democratic party. Its watchword was "No Retreat." For better or worse, that is the campaign slogan Mr. Roosevelt has chosen to elected as follows: N. B. Garrigues, I. F. Brainard, lessness. Usually the trouble is due use. He has chosen his position and run up his Joel Sharp, J. S. Bonsall, J. R. Carey and B. S. flag. The campaign has begun, formally.

SECURITY

In these days of organized quests for economic security it does not seem unreasonable that the Dionne quintuplets should be assured of adequate incomes for life even before they are aware of their in the greenhouse. own good fortune. If the five world-surprising little girls live to be three years old, present contracts assure them $300,000.

That sum will enable them to live comfortably for an indefinite period on income. Their holdings already have reached $120,000, which has been invested for them by their guardians in government Even more interesting than their wealth, however, is the overhead of the quintuplets' estab- spending the holidays with his parents here.

The hospital in which they live costs their estate about $1,000 a month. Last year $25,000 was spent in improvements on it. Organized By English Friend

Hunt's history of Salem says 'In 1845 another division occurred in the Society of Friends. Some years before Joseph Gurney, an English Friend. came over and went through most of the American meetings and preached in such a manner as to set people to thinking. Many believed he preached the truth and there were many who regarded him as getting away from the Friends

A report from the Sunday school at the close of the first year shows an average attendance of 30 scholars, four teachers and four officers. Probably the largest class of members ever taken into the church was in December 21, 1887, after a series of meetings held by Judith C. Johnson and David J. Lewis.

There were 38 in this class and it included James and Alpharetta Hoopes, Jesse Ingram, Mattie Ward, Josephine Harris, Reba Jenkins, Harry Van Fossan, Edwin Thomas and several others

In 1897 the church decided to provide a parsonage and a committee consisting of Isaiah Whinery, George Cobourn, Albert Lamborn, Henry Van Fossan. Emmor Harris, Jacob Taylor and Sheridan Broomall took the work in charge. Much was donated but there was a cash outlay

A number of changes have taken place and repairs have been added throughout the years. Many ministers have been called to the church and some have been resident pastors. At the present time, Revs. Martin and Lydia Brantingham are serving the church. They came to Winona in 1927.

Several also have gone out from the mission field and three members became recorded

Rev. Lyle J. Beebe, a Presbyterian missionary from Kiulungkiang, while shopping.

China, will speak at a union service at 7:30 p. m. Sunday in the First Presbyterian church here: Kiulungkiang is one of the most remote stations in which the Presbyterian church is carrying on mission work. It is in the interior of Yunnan Province, not far from the Burmese border, where China, French Indo-China, Siam and Burma all are close to each other. The people of his neighborhood are more akin to the Siamese in race and language than they are to the ruling Chinese. This situation, coupled with the additional fact that it is much easier to get into Siam from Kiulungkiang than it is to reach other sections of China in which the Presbyterian church is at work, makes Mr. Beebe's station a part of the Siam mission, despite its political connections.

Mr. Beebe went to Siam in 1908, after graduation from Park college and from Princeton Theological seminary. He has served in a numstations in Siam and was among the first to go into the new station of Kiulungkiang when work started there soon after the

Salem High Cagers Battle On Even Terms With Liverpool For Three Periods; Barberton Will Face Quakers Here Tonight

Down at the lower end of Columbiana county where potteries dot the shoreline of the Ohio river and the ceramic industry is the basis of existence, the East Liverpool High school basketball team is today basking in the glory of its sixth straight victory registered at the expense of the Salem High school Quakers before a near capacity crowd at the High school gymnasium last night.

From the pool halls to the home firesides, the East Liverpool court fans are discussing how the Potters spurted in the final quarter to win, 37 to 28 and push the Quakers completely out of the Columbiana county championship picture. waged on practically even terms and predictions as to its outcome were as scarce as 50th wedding anniversarith in Hollywood niversarith in Hollywood.

Take Lead

It was not until the diminutive Porter Mackey, East Liverpool's star forward, began ringing up scores in the fourth period that the undefeated Potters were able to take a commanding lead and put the game on ice.

Mackey who scored 16 points, can be credited with bringing the Potters the victory. His outstanding performance was perhaps the only difference in the calibre of play displayed by both teams.

lowing the precedent he has Thomas __ set in the previous five games, Coach Howard Lindell started his second string quintet. What type court strategy Lindell uses in doing this is uncertain; however, he inserted his varsity five at the start of the second quarter after the Quakers had secured a five-point lead, 13 to 8, during the first pe-

The Potter varsity was unable to overcome the Quakers lead in the second quarter, although it did outscore the Salem lads, 6 points to

Big Max Lutsch was performing at his best in both the first and second quarters and it was his play that was largely responsible for the Quakers being out in front, 18 to 14, at the halftime.

Mackey of the Potters began warming-up for his fourth-quarter scoring spree in the third frame by leading the River City lads as they tallied 13 points while the Quakers were limited to seven. Kenneth Shears, Quaker guard who had been absent during the early practice sessions this week, was removed from the game during play in this

Postponed Game For Saxon Five

Controversy over playing ar-

originally scheduled for tonight on the Youngstown team's floor, was postponed because the Steel City Saxons desired to play on Sunday and the Salem team refused to grant their wish.

As it stands now the game will either be played at a later date or will be forfeited to Salem. Definite decision on this will be made tomorrow when officers of the T. J. meet at the Salem Saxon

American and National Circuits Disregard Traditional Way of Doing Things and Fit New Schedule to Fit Teams

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 11-The American and National baseball leagues with carefully considered disregard for the traditional way of doing things, have decided to fit their 1936 schedules to their teams.

The program agreed on yesterday at a conference between Ford Frick, National league president; Harvey Traband, scretary-treasurer. and William Harridge of Chicago, American league president, calls for shorter and more frequently varied series, intersectional play starting two weeks after the opening, and a general speeding up of the program.

Thus the probable pennant contenders will be able to come grips within the first month after the campaigns start, April 14. The fourth inter-league All-Star game was awarded to Boston to be played July 7 at Braves field. The closing date of the 154-game schedule is September 27.

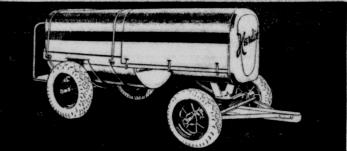

The line-up for the season indicates that the New York Yank-ees and Boston Red Sox in the east and the World Champion Detroit Tigers and the Cleveland Indians in the west probably will be the American league pennant contenders, while the New York Giants. Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals again will be the principal National league title candidates.

Under the old system there would be comparatively few meetings be tween the rivals until the season was well under way.

The openings will follow the old order for the most part, but the first shift of scenes will come earlier than before, April 17, while intersectional play is scheduled to begin April 28. Each club will make four intersectional trips in-stead of three as before and play fewer games each time. The games per series will be on a 3-3-3-2 basis instead of the old 4-4-3.

April 14-American: New York at Washington, Philadelphia at Brooklyn. Cincinnati April 28 (first intersectional series) American: Detroit at Washington, St. Louis at Philadelphia, 0 0 0 Boston National: Philadelphia at Pittsburgh Boston at Cincinnati, Brooklyn at Chicago, New York at St. Louis.
